

ZENK ONE

Meidoornstraat 64

Zenk One created a tribute to kickboxing legend Ramon Dekkers. The design features boxing gloves, a Thai floral wreath and a diamond, which is a reference to his nickname 'The Diamond'.

Dekkers was an eight time Muay Thai world champion and the first foreigner to be given the title of 'Thaiboxer of the Year'. This made Dekkers a hero in Thailand.

In 2013 Dekkers died unexpectedly during training. Local Tuinzig inhabitants Ivonne Peeters and Ciska Jansen made it their mission to make this mural happen.

MANTRA

Tuinzigtlaan

This mural brings nature to Tuinzig, with butterflies species that are nearly extinct in the Netherlands. From top to bottom you'll see a butterfly peacock, thistle butterfly and a blue butterfly. Nearby neighbourhood Westerpark consists of streetnames named after a mix of butterflies species, which is a funny coincidence.

TELMOMIEL

Tuinzigtlaan

When Nazi Germany invades The Netherlands in 1940, mayor Van Slobbe initiates a large-scale evacuation, famously known as 'De Vlucht' (the escape). Taking different routes, over 50.000 people from Breda leave for the South.

More about the story and symbolism of the mural will follow after an official unveiling!

STUDIO OCTOVIDU

Magnoliastraat

Studio Octovidu was inspired by the story of Jan Ingenhousz. Jan Ingenhousz is probably the most famous person of Breda. He was a physician, chemist and botanist. In 1779 Jan discovered photosynthesis by showing that light is essential to the process by which green plants absorb carbon dioxide and release oxygen. 81

ALFALFA

Dijklaan

For this mural, of a pigeon dressed in traditional Dutch attire, AlfAlfA took inspiration from the many pigeon breeders that once lived around Dijklaan. At least 14 pigeon breeders supposedly lived in the area, among which also the former Dutch pigeon sport champion.

ANA MARIETTA

Tramsingel 84

The river Mark is located opposite the Tramsingel. Our medicine usage has led to an estimated 140 tons of medicinal waste being dumped in the water every year. Sadly, this also affects the animals that live there. Fish are becoming transgender from contraceptive pill chemicals, and antipsychotics lead to behavioural change.

TOM ONRUST & WOUTER VAN DER GIESSEN

Lunetstraat

Our murals are usually inspired by historic events. During the making of this mural (March/April 2020), we find ourselves in the midst of a historic event: the worldwide corona-outbreak that has drastically changed our lives. To lift Breda's spirits we asked Tom Onrust to create a mural on former shopping centre De Lunet. A mural that we'll tell the stories of for years to come, long after the COVID-19 crisis.

Lunnetstraat

The sweet shapes that stretch across the tunnels were inspired by the (partly disappeared) confectionery industry in Breda. The wasteland that once was the CSM site is one of the last memories of this industry.

The mural contains shapes of floating candy papers, candybars and black and yellow colours that refer to NAC, a Dutch professional football club located at this road. When the wind blows in the right direction, the Perfetti Van Melle factory down the street adds a sweet dimension to the painting.
